To whom it may concern,

UASCS has partnered with Mohawk Valley Community College in two major programs and several distinct promotional related activities. Major programs consist of early college credit - dual credit programs for students to enroll in. UASCS students are exposed to MVCC early college level courses that have the ability to be transferred to a four-year college or university upon successful completion. In addition, these courses can also be counted and accepted as high school level credits toward graduation. For students who wish to take on a science focus course load, there is the C Step program. This program exposes students to fields such as cyber security and drone programming.

Sincerely,

Brandon Horender
